SPECIALIST ACCREDITATION

RESOLUTION

The skills of a Huntingdon lawyer have been recognised by the UK's leading family law group – Resolution. Simon Thomas, family lawyer and Partner at law firm Leeds Day has recently gained Resolution accredited specialist status.

Simon, who has been qualified for 6 years, undertook his studies at the Anglia Ruskin University, Cambridge and College of Law, Guildford. He joined Leeds Day in June 2004.

Simon passed his examinations in complex financial matters and in children law to gain his specialist status under the Resolution scheme.

Originally set up in 1999, the scheme is designed to help people who are facing family breakdown to make an informed choice when deciding which lawyer to appoint. To become a Resolution accredited specialist, lawyers have to agree to uphold the Resolution code of practice and to have passed a written exam demonstrating a breadth of knowledge of family law issues and specialist knowledge in at least two areas of family law.

Simon is the second lawyer at Leeds Day to achieve Resolution accreditation. Tamara Glanvill is also an accredited specialist in complex financial matters and Children Law and is also a trained collaborative solicitor.

Simon has said "As a Resolution member, I am committed to encouraging a non-confrontational approach to resolving family disputes. That way, both the emotional and financial costs of divorce or family breakdown are minimised for all those involved."

If you need specialist family advice on separation, please call Leeds Day on 01480 454301 to visit one of our team at our Huntingdon, St Neots or St Ives office.
